ACCREDITATION TERMS AND CONDITIONS AND GUIDELINES FOR MEDIA ACCREDITATION

Accreditation by the NCC is only for access to the venue and use of facilities provided for accredited persons. It does not constitute a license or permission for use of Intellectual Property Rights.

1. General

These terms and conditions and/ or regulations apply to all media practitioners accredited by the National Carnival Commission of Trinidad and Tobago (hereinafter referred to as NCC) in respect of shows and/ or events produced and / or organized under the auspices of the NCC. The NCC reserves the right to amend and/ or change these terms and conditions and /or regulations at any time and will notify accredited persons accordingly. NCC reserves the right to withdraw accreditation at any time for any breach of these terms and conditions.

2. Accreditation Process

The application form completed for accreditation, and the information provided thereon shall be read with and form part of these terms and conditions and/ or regulations. Any person who fails to complete the application form and/or provide information requested shall not be eligible for consideration. Any information provided on the said form which is erroneous, mis-leading, ambiguous or otherwise not consistent with bona fide completion, shall not be read so as to deprive the NCC of any alternative and/ or additional remedy available under law. Individuals seeking accreditation are required to provide the NCC with two passport size photographs. Companies seeking accreditation of employees must attach to the application form a letter signed by an authorized officer, stating the names and the number of persons on whose behalf the application is being made, and two passport photographs (4.5x3.5 cm) of each person. Accreditation is at the discretion of NCC and completion of the application process does not guarantee approval of application.

3. Access to facilities

Accredited persons are allowed entry into shows and/or events promoted or organized by, and/or facilities occupied by the NCC in which the shows or events are being held, but are not permitted access to restricted areas. Such persons must wear, in such a way as to be easily visible, any items of clothing and/or badge and/or other form of identification attesting to the accredited status.

Such clothing and/or badge and/or other forms of identification shall be worn at all times during shows and/or events, and while the accredited person is inside the NCC facilities. Failure to display evidence of accreditation could result in denial of entry, or if such a person has already gained entry, removal from the show and/or facility. Where requested by the NCC officials, accredited persons must produce evidence of accreditation.

Accreditation or accredited status is not transferable, and the NCC may remove any person from any show and/or event and/or facility, other than those for which accreditation had been obtained. The NCC will pursue any and all remedies at law in respect of any person who falsely uses his or her accredited status in shows and/ or events in respect of which no accreditation had been granted. A company granted accreditation for a specific number of its employees should in good faith, ensure that only persons needed to work at a particular show and/or event and / or facility are permitted use of accreditation.

Access to the venue may be subject to such measures as may be considered appropriate by NCC, national security personnel, fire department or any other authorized agency for the security and safety of the public or the smooth management of the event. Access to the venue may, at the discretion of NCC, be refused or withdrawn at any time where an accredited person is behaving in a violent, aggressive or disorderly manner or otherwise causing a nuisance to officials, performers and/or patrons or fails to obey reasonable instructions by NCC or any authorized agency responsible for the safety of the public and control of the event.

4. Liabilities

Accredited persons using facilities and/or equipment of the NCC must use the utmost care not to cause damage and/or loss. Any loss and/or damage shall be for the account of the person causing such loss and damage, or the company for whom the person works.

All accredited persons enter and move around the facility at any NCC show or event at their own risk. Where any loss or damage to equipment and/or property of an accredited person occurs at any NCC show, event and/or venue, NCC will only be liable if its authorized officials caused such loss or damage through their negligence. NCC accepts no liability in respect of all other incidents causing loss or damage.

The only permitted exception is where a media representative is recording an event for the limited purpose of publishing short excerpts for the reporting of current events. Otherwise, an accredited person must show such a license when requested by an NCC official or any authorized agent of the Producers, Designers, Musicians and others, failing which he or she may be requested to cease recording the event.
